We Can Save Money By Letting County Do Our Assessing, Says Mayor

When the county can assess our property and collect our taxes for us more efficiently and more economically than we can, why should we continue to burden ourselves with this chore?

This question will be asked by Mayor Fred Godwin at the city council meeting next Wednesday night. It is a rhetorical question, for the record, to get the matter officially before the citizens, so that he may have citizens' reactions. The question has already been asked in conferences between the city council members and City Clerk and Assessor Peter Mawdsley last week. Facts and figures were mulled over at considerable length, and Mayor Fred Godwin told The Pine Cone yesterday that he was convinced that it is wasteful and extravagant for Carmel to continue to do its own assessment and tax collecting work when it duplicates the work done by the county, when it could be done by the county at a saving of $500 a year to the city and would mean greater convenience to the property owner, since the city tax would be placed on the county bill along with the county tax. The school district and the sanitary district already make use of the county assessing and tax collecting machinery, and about 75 per cent of all the California cities.

The county's charge is one per cent of tax collected up to $25,000, and one-fourth of one per cent of all over $25,000. Cost to Carmel would be $362.50 for the entire job of assessing and collecting for the year.

"But it's up to Carmel. If the citizens want to go on with the old fashioned, wasteful duplication of duties between the county and city assessor, the council won't force a change on them," he said. "But it will cost them money in increased taxes. We'll have to get new equipment and set up a new system in accordance with new requirements, put out about $4,000, and we'll have to get more personnel. And we'll be continuing to use up our city clerk's time in the routine of tax assessment work, that should be devoted to administrative matters."

Corum Jackson, president of the Carmel Realtors' Board, and former deputy county assessor for this area, and P. A. McCreery, chairman of the Carmel Planning Commission, and former mayor, when questioned by The Pine Cone, both expressed themselves as favoring the change.

Everybody "In" On 11th St. Improvement

A. W. McEntire deposited $2,700 with City Clerk Peter Mawdsley Wednesday afternoon, the Eleventh street property owners contribution toward improving their thoroughfare, and then left for a vacation visiting relatives in Utah. He said he needed it.

McEntire, as co-ordinator of collectors, managed to get 100 per cent response from his fellow property owners whose contribution toward the co-operative street improvement project amounts to $75 per 100 foot lot. The city also shares in the cost. Collectors say that Tenth street will soon be "in," too.

The proposal to improve the two streets precipitated a typical Carmel explosion over a year ago in which citizens and council insulted one another for several sessions until it was discovered that nobody was trying to "put something over" on anyone, that everybody wanted about the same thing, that it was all a misunderstanding and maybe it would be better if everybody could get together and talk things over constructively. There were a number of meetings on this basis between property owners and council members, "collectors" were appointed

10 Percent Affected By Increase On New Assessment Roll

An increase of $664,470 in assessed valuation brings Carmel's assessment roll to the brink of the eight million mark, $7,943,135, City Assessor Peter Mawdsley announced this week.

Increase is derived from new improvements and alterations amounting to $275,770; personal property increase of $41,440 and an increase in land value in certain heretofore depressed areas, Carmel city, Forest Hill and the area north of Sixth Avenue between Junipero and Lincoln. This total increase amounts to more than the $664,470 but is reduced by increase in veterans exemptions amounting to $10,063. Total veterans' exemptions are $161,015.

The increased assessments affect only about 10 per cent of the tax payers. Ninety per cent of the Carmel tax payers will find that their assesment is the same this year as last.

Before the council meeting next Wednesday, the city council will meet as a board of equalization long enough to receive the roll, then adjourn to Thursday morning when they will hear any protests property owners may wish to make. Property owners who wish to know the amount of their assessment may find out by calling at the city hall.

Visitors' Day On Sub Today and Sat.

Visitors will be welcomed aboard the fleet submarine USS Ronquil between 1:00 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. today and tomorrow, the U. S. Naval School announced this week. She will be moored alongside the Coast Guard pier in Monterey until late Saturday afternoon, when she will head for San Francisco. The submarine will be here to serve as a submerged classroom for indoctrination of officer students at the Naval school. In five war patrols, the craft has sunk 21,600 tons of enemy ships, damaged 10,800 tons, and has rescued ten aviators. Her commanding officer is Commander C. D. Nace (USN.)

Shakespeare Festival Opens Tonight At Forest Theater

Tonight the opening performance of A Midsummer Night's Dream, the first of the Shakespeare Festival plays, will be given on the stage of the outdoor Forest Theater, under the direction of Blanche Tolmie and Herbert Heron. Miss Tolmie is an experienced producer of plays as well as an author and director.

Intensive rehearsals have been held day and night for the past three weeks and the cast has worked long and diligently to bring this presentation to the peak of perfection. The stage setting, planned and executed by Betty Fogel, with the assistance of Thomas C. Green and N. Duxbury is an artistic achievement and it blends in with the natural beauty of the surrounding pines. A Midsummer Night's Dream music by Mendelssohn will be used as background throughout the play.

Tickets for all three performances will be on sale each afternoon at the Seven Arts building, Lincoln street, and each evening at the Forest Theatre box office.

NEW GALLERY SHOWS

The Carmel Art Gallery opened its doors Thursday, July 1, to present three new shows, a new oil show, new water color group, and a new one man show by Arthur Hill Gilbert, N. A. His display will consist of small oils. Also, Mrs. Montague's office will be hung with eight or ten of Dora Hagemeyer's unusual and charming oils.

11th Annual Bach Festival Offers Varied Program

Carmel's eleventh annual Bach Festival opens just two weeks from next Monday, on July 19. The programs, which promise to be impressive, are being rehearsed and conducted by Gastone Usigli. The week of music, attracting hundreds of music lovers to Carmel, will run as follows:

Monday, July 19, Sunset School Auditorium: Chorale, Glory Now to Thee Be Given, from Cantata 149, and Gloria from B minor Mass, Bach Chorus; Brandenburg Concerto No. 4; Concerto for Trumpet and Orchestra, Haydn, Gabriel Bartold, soloist; Concerto E major for Violin and Orchestra, Nannette Levi, soloist; Italian Cantata for soprano voice, Phyllis

COPS AND LIONS CLUB WILL TANGLE TONIGHT

Chief Roy Fraties' crew of law-enforcers, which, it is rumored, has been supplemented by additions from Monterey, Salinas, and West Los Angeles, will attempt to arrest the power of the rampaging Lions Club in an 8 o'clock game at Sunset tonight. Cliff Cook's 1947 Champs are primed for another season of championship ball and threaten to knock the stars off the flatfeet. Paul Clemens, ace Lion hurler, will serve them up for the Club, while Officer Duke Dufur will toil for the Police, unless an FBI softball pitcher happens to be in town. At any event there will be plenty of spirited softball competition in this contest and it's a cinch the Police would like to hang it on the Champs.

NO-HIT, NO RUN GAME FOR KY MIYAMOTO

Ky Miyamoto had his wicked assortment of curves working in a dazzling fashion last Tuesday night to rack up his first no-hitter of the '48 season and enable the Pine Cone to defeat the Salinas Todds, 5 to 0. Ky struck out 13 in the seven inning contest and permitted only 4 opponents to reach first base. One batter was hit by a pitch, two walked, and one got a life on an error. A sensational fielding gem by brother Gordy saved the no-hitter in the fifth inning. Gordy raced into short left field to haul down a looping liner which was ticketed for a sure single.

The locals sewed up the ball game in the first frame when they tallied 3 markers on Walter's base hit, a trio of well-placed bunts, and a passed ball. Richey Walters again led the Pine Cone hit parade as he connected for 3 blows in 4 times at the dish. Rich is meeting the ball solidly and driving liners through the keystone section.

PINE CONE BLANKS THE HOLLISTER ALL-STARS

Behind Ky Miyamoto's three hit pitching, the Pine Cone softball nine turned in an impressive performance to overcome the highly touted Hollister All-Star aggregation. Miyamoto whiffed 15 in the seven inning contest and had the hitters well under control at all times. Richey Walters, fleet-footed flychaser, led the Pine Cone batting attack with two blows in three times at bat.

Hollister threw a 19 year old pitcher at the Pine Cone and the lad allowed only 4 hits which unfortunately came with runners on the bases. With another year's experience this boy will be a sensational softball hurler.

Short score:	R	H	E
Hollister All-Stars	0	3	2
Carmel Pine Cone	4	4	1

Umpires: Dick Sumner and Andy Del Monte.

PLUMBERS BATTER SALINAS CHAMPS, 5 TO 1

In their first tests of tough softball competition, the Wilder & Jones softball team came through with flying colors when they easily defeated the Salinas 20-30 Club. Playing before a good throng of rooters at Sunset Field, the Plumbers went right to work on Jack Lester, Salinas hurler, and chalked up 2 markers in the first inning. Leo Branson, W&J pitcher, showed exceptional control and good stuff in the tight spots to outpitch the famous Lester.

Leo had the Club hitters popping up or grounding out during the contest. The visitors did score one run in the first frame when a pop fly fell for a single and an infield miscue allowed the marker, but after the first inning, the Salinas boys were never dangerous. Sensational fielding plays by Bernie Roberts and Orville Jones helped to pull Leo out of tough spots. Bernie ran a country mile to haul down a sure bingle, while Orville knocked down hot shots at third base and threw out the hitters.

ADULT LEAGUE HOLLERS UNCLE! W&J TOO STRONG

After Adult League softball players saw Wilder & Jones take the Faculty apart, 15 to 0, last Friday night, they immediately formed a tight huddle and asked that they be spared getting in the Plumbers den. As a consequence, Wilder & Jones will drop out of the Adult League and will meet strong outside competition on the nights they were scheduled to play in the local league. The team which was scheduled to meet the Plumbers will draw a bye for that week. After their showing against the Salinas 20-30 Club, it is apparent that the W&J boys can hold their own with the best pastimers in the section.

The first two Adult League games produced small upsets when the Carmel Firemen edged the Lions Club, 6 to 5, and the Carmel Legion nipped the Police, 4 to 3. Masterful pitching by Kenny Roberts and marvelous support by brother Bernie, proved too rough for the Lions. Kenny allowed only 4 hits, while Bernie made the most spectacular play ever seen at Sunset when he speared a hot liner with his bare hand.

Manager Jim Kelsey hurled the Legion to a well-earned victory over a vastly improved Police aggregation. This was anybody's game until the very last out was made. The Carmel Police steamed up with a few of Monterey's finest and looked like a potent lineup of cops. Duke Dufur sailed them over for the Police and did a commendable job considering his extreme youth. Both teams garnered three safeties but the Legion made theirs count when the chips were down.

Tonight's feature attraction will match the once-mighty Lions Club with the rejuvenated Police. Game time 8 o'clock.

CLUB MIDGETS RUN VICTORY STRING TO 13

During the past week the Carmel Boys' Club Midgets racked up victories over the Pacific Grove Rec Club and the Seaside Herald Carriers to run their unbroken string of victories to 13. Johnny DeAmaral was the winning pitcher in both games, shutting out the Rec Club and downing the Carriers, 6 to 2. Steady fielding support by Stewart Emery, Bob Updike, and Henry Overin has been instrumental in keeping the Club record clear. These little sprouts are building up a fine reputation on the Peninsula and have been playing to good crowds. Their next outing will be next Tuesday when they tangle with the Pacific Grove Herald Carriers.

In other Carmel Junior League games during the past week, the P. G. Herald Carriers defeated the Carmel Juniors, 13 to 4, and the New Monterey Boys' Club hung it on the Seaside Carriers, 4 to 0.

"His Time Will Surely Come . . ."

By Florence W. Parker

It seems to be a generally accepted fact that a great genius lives and works at least a half century before his work is accepted or appreciated by the general public. Gustav Mahler, the great Viennese composer and conductor, was during his brief lifetime hailed as one of the world's greatest conductors, especially when huge orchestras and choruses were necessary—whereas his own symphonies and other works of immense proportion are only now being recognized — except, of course, by the elite of the music world. Probably this is largely due to the fact of their huge proportions in length and number of musicians necessary, as many as 900 in the chorus alone. Walter Spalding, professor of music at Harvard, wrote in his Music, an Art and a Language, in 1920, "I believe Mahler to be a real genius with wonderful conceptions, who has not yet received his due evaluation, but his time will surely come!" Yes, his time surely has come; it is a part of the New Age rolling in upon us—for his conceptions of life are of universal scope and importance; fortunate are they who can rightly interpret their message.

The music world is especially indebted to the noble and selfless efforts of his faithful friend and collaborator, Dr. Bruno Walter, who in 1895 succeeded him as director of the Royal Opera in Vienna, that Mahler's works have now been so ably presented in all the great music centerrs of the world. Dr. Walter has given us in his own splendid biography, Theme and Variations (1946), so much "valuable information" about Mahler's great works as well as much of value and of interest concerning his family, his life and an outline of his far-reaching ideas as set forth in all his music and writings.

Only this spring Mahler's Lied von der Erde (Song of the Earth) was conducted by Dr. Bruno Walter and the New York Philharmonic. It was an unforgettable presentation of one of the noblest works of art in the world, and how happy and blessed are we at this time to have heard this work so marvelously presented in every detail all over the civilized world! Surely if ever we dreamed of universal peace and goodness and harmony, it became a blessed reality under the impact of such music rendered by such a devoted and enlightened soul as conductor. Now can we truly say, "Whatever comes, I have been blessed."

It is curious to notice how much of the world's great music has been born in Vienna: Mozart, Haydn, Schubert, Johann Strauss, the Valse King, Richard Strauss, composer of the opera Salome and the Rose Cavalier, and Death and Transfiguration; then Bruckner and Mahler. Beethoven and Brahms, who lived the best years of their lives in Vienna, may be added to the list, being so deeply rooted to this home of music. For Bruno Walter, Vienna was his beloved home with tendrils deeply rooted around its warm heart. You who know his Theme and Variations will have enjoyed the descriptions of Vienna's romantic and lovely surroundings, where so many of Austria's great artists, including Mahler, had their hideaway cottages — where genius could flower undisturbed.

It was in Steinbach in the Austrian Salz-Kammergut, in the lovely wooded mountains, by a large green lake, that Mahler wrote his third symphony (Nature) in his solitary hut. His sisters and friend Bruno Walter were vacationing at the other end of the lake, at Berghof, where Brahms frequently stayed in summer, but at that time the great man was too ill to leave Ischel, an ideal beauty spot well known to Beethoven, Schubert and their Vienna contemporaries.

The world premiere of Mahler's Symphony took place in Cologne in 1904, for which he had been offered a large honorarium after the great success with his previous works, but Mahler insisted upon re-writing the greater part of the 5th to satisfy his inner urge for completeness. Thus he sacrificed most of his worldly reward to his need of spiritual perfection—such a soul was Mahler—so up the spiral climbed the great composer developing steadily—with his faithful friend never too busy in his own full life to be on call. Also fate had blessed him with a rare wife, twenty years his junior but a wise, gracious and beautiful soul. She fulfilled her destiny as friend, wife, mother to him and their children, following his career with perfect understanding even as copyist to much of his work when necessary. Alma the perfect wife to a great genius.

In 1907 the Mahlers lost their four-year-old first daughter. The grief-stricken father developed a severe heart trouble which caused him to leave the heavy work as director of the opera in Vienna. But instead of the rest prescribed by his physician he accepted an offer to join the Metropolitan Opera in New York. Dr. Walter gives a beautiful account of Mahler's farewell to his friends and the members of the Opera at the completion of his term of ten years as director in Vienna. (See Bruno Walter's Theme and Variations.)

During this time Mahler and his wife, Alma, were seen on various occasions in Europe, especially in Vienna and in Prague for the first performance of the Seventh Symphony and preparation for his Eighth, which had its premiere in September, 1910, in the mammoth Munich Exhibition Hall, for the required enterprise called for around 1,000 persons, the leaders feverishly coaching the various sections of voices in Vienna and Munich. It was an unforgettable performance, and it represented the culmination of Mahler's very life and its message of light and universal faith and expansion in one last heart-throb of this great man. As if this were not enough, he shortly afterwards handed to Bruno Walter his magnificent Lied von der Erde, the performance of which we were a short two weeks ago privileged to hear under Dr. Walter's baton. In the meantime the Ninth Symphony had been entrusted to Dr. Walter by Alma Mahler and was published soon after the great composer's death in 1911 under his friend's supervision. Mahler did not hear either of his two last works.

In February, 1911, Mahler was stricken in America with an inflammation of the heart and was taken to Paris Sanatorium. On receiving the news of Mahler's hopeless condition, Dr. Walter at once took leave of absence from Vienna and went to Paris in the company of Mahler's sister. They found Mahler in Neuilly and very weak. He had one last wish—to return to Vienna. So Alma undertook the journey, hurrying the sick man to the Loew Sanatorium. Dr. Walter was called and Mahler died soon afterward. He was buried in the Grinzing Cemetery where an immense crowd stood silently, in spite of a violent storm.

Since that time Mahler's works were given in every music-loving country of Europe, and in New York, often in cycles, guided by the hand of Bruno Walter, until the outbreak of the war. At present they are more widely known than ever, for Mahler's time has now at last arrived!

Much of interest has been contributed by Alma Mahler in the publication of her memoirs and letters.

Victor Heikes

Private services will be held today for Victor Conrad Heikes, 81, a resident of Carmel for 15 years, who died Tuesday at the Peninsula Community Hospital after a long illness. Listed in Who's Who for the past 40 years as mining geologist, chemist, statistician, and author, Mr. Heikes was known throughout the United States as an authority on mining and metallurgy for half a century.

Born in Dayton, Ohio, in 1867, he was graduated from the Colorado School of Mines in 1889. Prior to 28 years with the U. S. Geological Survey, and seven years with the U. S. Bureau of Mines, he was acting director of the U. S. Commission to the International Universal Exposition in Paris in 1900. He was a member of the Masons and of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Coming to Carmel following his retirement in 1933, he lived until the present time at Mountain View and Santa Fe with his wife, the former Anna Marie Sellier, whom he married in Alameda in 1899.

He leaves, in addition to his wife, a son, George Conrad Heikes of New York.

Services will be at the Mission Mortuary, for the immediate family only. Burial will be in the Piedmont Cemetery, San Francisco.

May Belle Yorick

Friends of May Belle Yorick, of the pioneering Hesser family of Pacific Grove, learned this week of her death in Los Angeles. She was the daughter of Mary Elizabeth Hesser, who was for many years curator of the Pacific Grove museum. The Hesser family was among the early organizers of the Pacific Grove Retreat, and played a conspicuous part in Pacific Grove civic activities. Mrs. Yorick was 68 years of age.

Mrs. Yorick leaves a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie M. Albee of Los Angeles; two brothers, Dr. George Hesser and Charles Hesser; and a granddaughter, Carolyn, of Los Angeles. Carolyn is a fourth generation native daughter, as Mary Elizabeth Hesser was the child of a survivor of the Donner party.

Did You Know?

By Lillian Locke

Did you know that in the days before yesterday, when the lovely pine trees in the center of Ocean Avenue were very small and had just been set out the children of Carmel carried water in pails and watered them to keep them alive until they were "on their own" and needed such care no longer? It must be a source of satisfaction to Mrs. Ivy Murphy Sinclair and others who were faithful to this task to look at the trees now.

Did you know that the long seat in Ernest Morehouse's office on Ocean Avenue, on which the "hope-to-be-renters" sit while waiting their turn is very very old? It was made out of one of the water troughs used long ago to water the horses who pulled the stage coach into Carmel. The road was not paved then and it was quite a hard pull, and what tales the seat could tell if it could only talk.

Did you know that the colored mammy doll that stood for so many years in the window of Ella's Kitchen was given her by Don Blanding? Ella's register contained the names of many famous artists, writers and poets, also many who were not famous but were steady customers because of the excellence of the food served.

Did you know that Don Blanding once saved Joan Crawford's life? That is what she claims. It was when she was very small and had cut her foot very badly. He found her just after the accident when on his way home from high school. As she lived across the street from him he carried her home where medical air was summoned. He even wrote a poem dedicated to her and called The Little Girl Across the Street.

Did you know that Edmund Low owes at least a part of his education to instruction received under Daisy Bostick when she was a teacher in San Jose?

Did you know that one of Carmel's retired merchants was and still is an authority on International Law? It is James McGrury and if you doubt this just try to stump him.

Did you know that the first Abalone Cup was a stove lid. Wonder where it is now? Perhaps Doc Staniford uses it to mix prescriptions on.

Did you know that the thermometer registered 96 degrees in Carmel on October 10, 1930?

Did you know that Carmel boasts the only man with the courage to ask the great Paderewsky to cease practicing on the piano? His reason? It was causing his wife's head to ache and she was already bedfast on account of it. The famous sculptor, Austin James, was the man who, in a hotel had the room next to the musical genius and hotel walls being what they are, the practicing was annoying, so he knocked on the door next to his and explained the situation to the person who answered. The music ceased. Of course Mr. James did not find out who was playing until the next morning. Period or should it be exclamation point?

Did you know that someone once asked Ed Ewig if he agreed with Wm. McFee, who had stated in an article in Time magazine that he disapproved of women shopping while wearing jodphurs? Mr. Ewig's answer was a honey. I quote, "I admire Mr. McFee and consider him a great writer but I disagree with his statement about women wearing jodphurs while shopping. I'm sure any costume a Carmel woman chooses to wear in my grocery store would be appreciated and in perfect taste."

Carmel Generous Of Time And Money In Children's Appeal

Although the final returns are not yet in, it is evident that the people of Carmel have been responding with their usual promptness and generosity to the Crusade for Children, which has been in progress here and all over the world in the past few weeks. The mayor's request for volunteer workers was answered by a goodly number of citizens and even of visitors to the town, and he wishes to thank all who gave so generously of their time and effort and enthusiasm, as well as all who contributed funds.

Col. Roy Hillyer is chairman of the business district, Col. L. W. Glazebrook, chairman of residential district, and F. F. Petrie is secretary. Team captains are Miss Jane Blum, Miss June Brennan, Mrs. Thomas Bunn, Maj. Gen. E. G. Chapman, Mrs. Burton Doolittle, Mrs. James Doud, Mrs. C. D. Edger, Mrs. John Geisen, Mrs. Fred Godwin, Mrs. Frances G. Hawley, Mrs. L. G. Hudson, Mrs. Ed Keeley, Mrs. Walter Lehmann, Mrs. Nelson Leoni, Mrs. R. G. Mason, Mrs. Milancey Morrow, Miss Alice McClure, Mrs. Paul Low, Mrs. Darryl Shewell, Ray Spiking, Blanchard Steeves, Mrs. B. B. Thomas, and Mrs. Dorothy Way.

Thanks go also to Mrs. Jimmy Hatlo, who took charge of organizing the attractive young ladies who sold Calorie Coupons at the banks and the post office early in the campaign; to the Bank of Carmel, for their co-operation in receiving and handling the funds; to the Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe of All Saints' Episcopal Church, for the use of the building and facilities of the All Saints' Parish House as headquarters during the campaign; to Father O'Connell of the Old Mission for having envelopes for contributions passed out at Mass on Sundays; to District Superintendent of Schools Stuart Mitchell for allowing the use of Sunset Auditorium for the initial meeting and the showing of the film, Seeds of Destiny; to Principal of the Sunset School Arthur Hull for getting volunteer workers; to the Boy Scouts of America and Scoutmasters Carl Bensberg and William Smith for ushering at the meeting and putting out posters; to Frank G. Plaisted of the Naval Reserve for his assistance at the Sunset meeting; and to Miss Margot Roberts for helping with office work and transportation. And very special thanks to the many splendid workers who made up the teams under the above named captains, and who did the actual house to house canvassing, the hardest job of all.

Fire Season Opens With Variety Of Pyrotechnics

Official opening of the fire season was heralded by the total destruction of a home in Carmel Valley Sunday. Crews from Tularcitos and the Carmel Hill Fire Station arrived at the Ralph Stein home, near the airport, early Sunday evening in time to save most of the furniture. Firemen remained on the scene until almost midnight, but were unable to save the house, which was unoccupied at the time. The fire, believed to have originated in the kitchen, was well under way when equipment arrived.

Carmel Hill firemen were called to Hatton Fields Saturday afternoon when an automobile owned by S. W. Griffith of Monterey caught fire. Believed to have been caused by defective wiring, the flames did damage estimated at $75.

Two brush fires were brought under control over the weekend. Carmel Hill fire crews, assisted by men from the Fort Ord fire station, fought for two hours Sunday afternoon to extinguish a controlled fire that got out of hand on the property of Mrs. M. Reitzer, on the Monterey-Salinas cutoff. A second fire, believed to have been caused by children playing with matches, destroyed an acre of grass and brush on the Steve Sheldon property, near the Del Monte golf course, Monday afternoon. Firemen from the Carmel Hill station worked for two hours to bring the blaze under control. No buildings were damaged.

Please be careful with cigarettes, matches and fireworks, the Division of Forestry asks. Conditions are just right this weekend for sparks from cigarettes and glowing matches. Regarding fireworks over the Fourth, the division points out that firecrackers and other pyrotechnics are illegal, whether used on private or public property.

How trouble shooters take wing to guard your power supply

They take the sky-way... these modern power-patrolmen. Helicopters enable our high-line trouble shooters to find line breaks or make routine checks of transmission facilities much more efficiently than on foot or skis. For the versatile helicopter can hover near a tower for detailed inspection of insulators and equipment... land in normally inaccessible areas... or dart at 80 miles an hour along the line to spot possible breaks caused by storms or falling trees.

There are 9,000 miles of transmission lines in P. G. and E.'s network to keep helicopters busy. And they have a still bigger job ahead as we expand the system to serve Northern and Central California's growing needs.

From more than a hundred reservoirs and lakes and 74 generating plants comes the electricity to supply this vast network. More plants are on the way, joining P. G. and E.'s post-war power-parade costing over $400,000,000.

Dr. Mary Benton 3rd Speaker On War Problem Forum

On Wednesday, July 7, in the Sunset Library in Carmel, Dr. Mary L. Benton will speak on War and the Church. Dr. Benton's talk will begin at 8 p. m. and is open to everyone without charge.

Blind and crippled with arthritis so that she gets about only with difficulty, she is one of the nation's remarkable women: a true follower of Helen Keller, since she has refused to let physical handicaps interfere with her life. Through the radio, and friends who read to her, she has kept more up to date on world events than most people who can see, and walk without effort, but who are too busy to listen, analyze and think. Last year, finding her eyesight so far gone that she could not even guide a pen across a paper, she resolved to learn to typewrite with the touch system, so that she could keep up correspondence with friends all over the world. She mastered the problem in a very few weeks.

Dr. Benton is a brilliant speaker, with definite ideas as to the solution of the problems faced by the world in this atomic age, and an ability to express her thoughts with clarity and force. And she has behind her a broad international experience. Born in Syria of missionary parents, she returned to the United States when a girl of five. When a young woman she studied at the Sorbonne in Paris, then taught in a French Normal School. Later she taught at Mills College; then, for many years, she was perhaps the best loved professor at Smith College, where instruction in Latin was interspersed with philosophy. Next Dr. Benton was called to Carleton College, as dean of women. She was asked to set up the system through which French and American girls were selected to get university educations in each others' countries. She was the first woman of the Allies to cross Germany after World War I, sent into Lithuania, to determine relief needs for the International YWCA. She has lived, worked and traveled in Europe many times, is a master of languages, and has many friends in many countries.

Dr. Benton is aunt of the Hon. William Benton, recently Assistant Secretary of State, who represented the United States in setting up UNESCO and the Voice of America programs, and of Miriam Clark Potter (Mrs. Z. L. Potter) of Carmel. Her talk is the third of a series given under the auspices of the Adult Education Program, on possible solutions of the war problems. Previous meetings considered the world government program of the United World Federalists, and the union-of-the-democracies program of the Federal Unionists. Future programs will consider the Common Cause proposals of the University of Chicago group, the Culbertson plan and the "preventive war" program.

RED + NEWS

In every phase of its activities and services, the American Red Cross must depend on community understanding, interest and support. The more the people know of its work and the spirit and intention impelling to that work the more the possibilities of their cordial co-operation.

The Carmel chapter, conforming to the general plan, is in process of building its standing committee for the year on public relations that such a desirable situation may continue to prevail. This committee will seek in every way possible to inform the community of the program of services of the American Red Cross and to continue to merit and win its generous care.

The chairman of the public relations committee discussed this week the plans of the chapter with Mrs. Marshall Madison, the imaginative and capable executive of the annual convention program which was recently completed in San Francisco. She was asked for her opinion concerning the emphasis which should be given in immediate publicity. She answered, "The need is for continuing volunteer services in all the varied activities of the Red Cross."

The response to the appeal for such aid comes so readily in America in time of war. It comes almost unsought. In peace it is natural that a greater effort must be exercised to keep us all informed and available as needed. It is the work of the committee on public relations to provide this information and to serve as the arouser!

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray Celebrates 15th Anniversary, July 4

The Sunday service of the Church of the Wayfarer will be something of a milestone for Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, for on July 4 he begins his fifteenth year in the ministry, having begun the pastorate of his first church, the Community Church, in East Kingston, New Hampshire, on July 1, 1934.

He has had only two churches since then, in Mill Valley and St. Stephen's in Oakland, in addition to a student church in Denver, before coming to Carmel. This is also the beginning of his second year here, as the first Sunday last year was June 29.

Patriotism isn't a profession or a career or a political gesture. Patriotism is a heartfelt love of country to the point of inspiration and sacrifice. Betsy Ross's every stitch was guided by it when she made the first stars and stripes.

here's to a safe and sane 4th of July week-end -- without fires or accidents!

L E T ' S observe the Fourth sanely! State law prohibits the use of fire-works on both private and public property . . . thus giving a definite "No!" to a number of us who might otherwise permit our enthusiasm to run wild . . . and, incidently to start fires in town and country-side. The California State Division of Forestry particularly requests that fire-works—however much fun they may seem—be strictly omitted from the festivities . . . Let's not start fires—let's live quietly over the week-end!

L E T ' S observe the Fourth by driving sanely, soberly—at a reasonable pace. When traffic is heavy the proportion of accidents is heaviest . . . throughout the entire Peninsula, let's show that we know what the Fourth of July signifies . . . historically, emotionally—with dignity and without abandon.

The Time Has Come . .

By Kippy Stuart

Everyone is asking, "What is wrong with my Shasta daisies? What is wrong with my Marguerites?" Up to this period, these daisies have been showering the Monterey Peninsula with white and gold. Suddenly something seems to be happening to t h e m, for the flowers are beginning to fade and the bushes are getting lopsided. The answer is that these plants are tired out. They want to take a little nap and the kind gardener will help them out. What these plants need is a haircut.

The bush daisy, which is known as the Marguerite, is pruned differently from the Shasta daisy. With Marguerites, keep the shape of the rounded bush; with the Shasta, cut them back one third of their height. This process will break the heart of a new gardener, but rather do a little heartbreaking to the gardener than lose a second shower of white and gold, and unless you do prune Marguerites and Shastas, now, there will be no repeat performance this summer. Proper pruning in July will insure a second crop of blossome later in the season.

There are many other varieties of daisies that live happily in this locality. Of these, the most outstanding are Ester Reed, Grand Marconi, and the Chiffon daisy. You see these blooming now in almost every garden, so don't confuse them with the Shasta and the Marguerite. Do no pruning here, until they too, get tired. The best way to help your Ester Reed, Grand Marconi and Chiffon daisies is, when gathering for house flowers, to cut stems as long as possible. Don't leave stubby stems to collect fungus and dry rot. Keep the bushes free from faded blooms, nip them off as soon as they begin to fade.

Daisy plants that begin to show yellow foliage with brown spots need help. Wet them down well, and while they still retain water on their foliage, sprinkle, t h e m well with agricultural sulphur. The sulphur will take care of the yellowing condition, which is a mild form of fungus.

The culture of daisies is: good garden loam and plenty of water. They are not particular about exposure, for some bloom as well in semi-shade as they do in full sun, however, a sunny spot in the garden is insurance for continued blooming. And when watering, don't hit them in the face; let a slow stream of water flow about their roots. Now is the time to start your new daisy plants for next year. The plants you now have will bloom again next year, but you will have stronger, better plants from new cuttings. This is such a simple procedure that it hardly needs telling. Cut branches about seven inches long and stick them in the earth anywhere. If you keep them damp, they will sprout and you will have new d a i s y plants.. The experienced gardener will start these cuttings in gritty sand, and he will keep that sand damp at all times. When the cuttings have rooted, the experienced gardener will transfer the new shoots to small pots. The neophyte need not be bothered to do this. He too can grow daisies, for they are willing, eager little fellows, and with just a little care the cuttings will root almost anywhere.

Daisies are difficult to arrange as they have a tendency to droop and are also difficult to make stand up. Tie several stems together and then stick them into the frog. They will hold each other up. I know of no garden flower so eager to place as the daisy is; and I know of no flower as decorative and long lasting as a cut flower.

Spivakovsky's July 9 Concert Program Announced

Of Tossy Spivakovsky, violinist, who will play in Carmel at the Sunset Auditorium on Friday evening, July 9, one critic wrote, "The thrilling virtuosity of Tossy Spivakovsky was so compelling that old timers went back in memory to Jan Kubelik, who was wont to stir audiences to high pitch of enthusiasm. Certainly the concert was an experience of tremedous import to lovers of violin playing of the highest order to be heard in a generation."

In Constitution Hall in the nation's capitol the Times-Herald wrote, "It was the season's best concert. As the public constantly interrupted with applause one could imagine a ghostly company of the great departed—Sarasate, Sauret, Ysaye—cheering from the wings."

Spivakovsky is brought here by Alice Seckels and Franklin Dixon, who have arranged for him to play here after his appearance at the Hollywood Bowl. Tickets for the concert are on sale at the Abinante Music Stores in Carmel and Monterey. A beautiful program, many numbers never heard here before, has been chosen. The program follows:

Adagio (Cadenza by Tossy Spivakovsky), Mozart; Allegro, Handel; Sonata, Paganini; Concerto in E Minor, Mendelssohn; Ave Maria, Schubert; Roumanian Folk Dances, Bartok; Ukelele Serenade, Copland; Carmen Fantasie, Sarasate.

China Convoy . . .

By L. F. Bosshardt

Part II.

After meeting my crew I visited the other ships of the convoy to meet the captains and see just what I had to work with. The vessels ranged in age from one year to ten, and from casual inspection, seemed to be seaworthy.

The vessels were: Pacific Star (flagship), Jackie Boy, El Rey, J. O. Martinolich, Joseph Balestrari, St. Anthony, Fisher Lassie, and North Star.

The El Rey, Jackie Boy and St. Anthony were Monterey seiners, and seeing them again in Alameda being readied for the voyage, made me feel that I had three old friends with me, as I had at one time or another adjusted the compasses of these ships in Monterey Bay.

The fitting out period of about two weeks kept us very busy. Spare fuel oil, food, and all gear necessary for a long cruise were put aboard and securely lashed. Trial runs were made, and it was at this phase of the voyage that I lost two of my vessels from the convoy. The Martinolich came head on to the dock, and damage to her stern was such as to eliminate her.

The Fisher Lassie developed serious engine trouble, so she also was eliminated. My convoy now consisted of six vessels.

There was some doubt about the North Star now. If we stayed there much longer I was afraid we on the Pacific Star would make the voyage alone. Yes, the North Star was out, but a small 65-footer named Rosanne was en route from Seattle and would make up the sixth ship. On Saturday, July 13, the Pacific Star got underway and proceeded to the Golden Gate to escort Rosanne into the harbor and to the outfitting dock. At 2:30 p. m. we sighted Rosanne and gave her orders to follow us. At 6:30 p. m. we were back alongside the dock.

From Monday, July 15, until July 19, when articles were signed, I was in daily huddles with the convoy captains, fine fellows and quick to learn.

The sailing date for July 25, with lots of work still to be done. Now it was work day and night, everlastingly at it. We were all anxious to go. Morale was high, and every vessel as seaworthy as it is possible to make it.

Thursday, July 25, 1946, sailing day! The formalities were dispensed with. At noon I gave the order to shove off and the little fleet of six ships stood out of port into San Francisco Bay, thence through the Golden Gate. Let us go to the log of the Pacific Star: "1300: Convoy formed column off pier No. 26, proceeding out of San Francisco Bay, various courses and speeds. 1417: Under Golden Gate bridge. 1720: South East Farallone Island abeam, distance 5 miles, set course 242 degrees, true speed of convoy 8.5 knots."

"Goodbye Pacific Coast for awhile. The light on S. E. Farallone seemed to be blinking 'bon voyage.' The wind is from the west with light rain. And a heavy sea rolling from N. W. We will not make much way in this. Rosanne in the van rises and falls on the swell and ships quite a bit of water. No one will sleep in that ship this night. My plan is to make Southing so as to run out of the N. W. prevailing winds. These winds can drive sometimes and a high sea builds up. I alter course more to the south and take the sea abaft the starboard beam. Vessel does not labor so much, whole convoy riding much easier.

"At daylight the wind does not abate and sea remains high, vessels labor considerably, shipping green water in great quantities. Our poor cook has been sea sick for two days. It's every man for himself now, as far as eating goes, but we manage, glad food is put up in cans."

FOR YOU . . .

When days are green and gold and gray gulls winging
Their westing way again to sea and shore,
When children search the river road for catkins
And larks lilt praise to blue of sky once more,
When eagle wings ignore the mountain skyways
And pines are harps along the wind-worn crest,
When man deserts the beaten path for byways
And dawn disputes with sundown: "which is best? . . .
The heart must lift and soar as any wildling
That trills its matins to the morning sun,
The soul must sing its evensong, its springsong—
As they that worship Him have always done.
White snows shall feed the never-failing fountain
And surf-song hold a timeless symphony—
For you . . . who seek your sermon on the mountain
And you . . . who find your anthem by the sea.

AN ALPINE GARDEN

An alpine garden is a lovely place—
A beauty spot upon the mountain's face!

The golden daisy, every smiling one,
Nods the more brightly in the hilltop sun.

Redder the paint-brush, where white waters branch,
Fairer the lilies, by the avalanche.

Bluer the lupine, where snow peaks lift high,
Harebells swing bluer . . . nearer to the sky.

Brighter the stars, more infinite the hush
Before bird matins . . . sweeter sings the thrush!

An alpine garden is a sacred place—
Where hearts, communicant, may glimpse God's face.

GHOSTLY GALLEONS

Ghostly galleons! Still they ride
On the unchanged crest of the changeless tide.
There on the sea horizon's hill,
When the nights are long and the wind lies still,
When the moon sets white as the surf, white-pearled,
And an aura of mist hides the pathless world.
Sails, where the hurricane is born,
Sails, on an inter-island morn,
Square-rigged sails in the hidden Sound —
Fear in stout hearts, they may run aground!
Captains that challenged the sea's great might,
Captains tight-lashed to their wheels at night!
Cook and Vancouver . . . and those before
Who fought green seas and the monsoon's roar! . . .
Nights when the surf is phosphorus,
Making the moon-path luminous . . .
There on the sea horizon's hill,
Ghostly Galleons . . . riding still!

Have You Read . . . ?

By C. Edward Graves

Mammals of North America. By Victor H. Cahalane. Macmillan, 1947. $7.50.

If you are interested in the latest authentic information on our wild animals, served in a most appetizing way, here is the book that you want. In the past there has been a great dearth of informational books on wild animals that are at the same time comprehensive and reliable. Ernest Thompson Seton's Lives of the Game Animals, which appeared in 1929 in four volumes and which not only drew on Mr. Seton's personal knowledge but which also contained much information contributed by hunters and naturalists, has up to now been the outstanding reference book of this kind. Mr. Cahalane's book now replaces the Seton work as the standard source of information for those interested not only in the larger game animals but also in many of the smaller mammals not covered by Mr. Seton's book.

That the book is authentic is made certain by Mr. Cahalane's position as chief biologist of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. There could be no more centrally located office for the gathering of essential information. That it is comprehensive is indicated by the 94 headings, including all the larger mammals and such smaller ones as the chipmunks, the pocket gopher, the meadow mouse, the house rat and others. That it is interestingly written can perhaps be proved by quoting the first paragraph of the chapter on the elk. It begins as follows:

"The sun was going down. Shadows of the Engelmann spruce reached across the little meadow and etched queer shadows on a band of cow elk and their calves. Restlessly one of the cows moved away, and then one could see that she was followed closely by a bull. Tall as a saddle horse, his tawny olive body was sleek and rounded from a summer of good living. The great branched antlers rose slantingly four feet or more above his head. His pale buffy rump disk looked brighter in the dusk than in the sunlight. It was late September in the northern Rockies, and the mating season was at its height."

Then follows an account of a fight between two "sultans" for the possession of the harem and after that eight pages of miscellaneous information. At the end of the chapter and of every chapter in the book there is statistical information under three headings, General Description, Distinguishing Characteristics, and Range. Thus the book has reference value as well as general reader interest.

On the subject of conservation Mr. Cahalane is not an alarmist. He states the case very dispassionately as follows: "Thirty years of slaughter, during the 1850s, sixties and seventies, climaxed the near-extermination of the larger animals They were gone completely from vast areas where they had lived in countless numbers. Only a few remnants of former millions managed to persist where they were secluded in wild areas of the western mountains, or in the far-off, inhospitable northlands. By the opening of the twentieth century, an aroused and fearful public realized how drastic the exterminating process had been and hastily sought to have the damage remedied. Today, after half a century of trial and error in conservation, most of the larger land mammals are no longer in danger of becoming extinct. Many of them are perhaps as populous as ever they can be in a man-modified continent. With some notable exceptions, as the prairie dogs, the smaller land species have been little harmed by the activities of man. Not as much can be said for the majority of the great marine animals that live in the surrounding oceans, as some of these seem likely to disappear before we know enough about their habits to conserve them intelligently."

There are 92 dramatic portraits of the mammals in the form of line drawings by Francis L. Jaques, illustrator for the American Museum of Natural History.

Powell-Barbour Wedding

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Powell, daughter of Mrs. W. D. Powell and the late General Powell, to Robert Naylor Barbour, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Irwin Barbour of Carmel, will take place at the Carmel Mission at 10 a. m., July 12. Wearing ivory satin and a lace finger tip veil, all designed with an old fashioned appeal, Miss Barbour will be attended by matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. D. A. Robnett, and bridesmaids Miss Jean Gaudin from Salinas, and Miss Betty Hogan, a medical student at Harvard; the bridesmaids will wear maize yellow in faille and net. Best man will be the groom's brother, Frederick Irwin Barbour, and ushers will be John Sand, Fred Stanley, Hal Dashback and Richard Nichols. Miss Powell is a Carmel High School graduate and a graduate in Physiology at the University of California at Berkeley. Mr. Barbour graduated from Loyola High and from Georgetown University in Washington, D. C.

After the wedding there will be a reception at the Officers' Club at Fort Ord; the couple will then go east for their honeymoon. They plan to make their home in Berkeley where Mr. Barbour will attend the University School of Law, and the new Mrs. Barbour will teach physiology.

Carousel Fashion Show

Perfect timing for the Carousel fashion show was last Friday afternoon when guests could gaze out of the Carousel windows to see the sun shining brightly on the shimmering valley fields. Decorated with a maze of flowers and hung with chic modern paintings, the rooms were full of color, and small enough to be intimately right for a fashion show. The models were all from the valley, which lent just the right harmonious touch. Kay Brownell did her usual perfect hostessing for the show, and Mrs. Clemens, whose clothes were being shown from the Eugenie shop in Salinas, did the commentary.

Two bathing suits were first shown, a rose and orange suit modeled by petite Mrs. Cassie Parsons, and a colored lastex suit by Mrs. Mary Crowe. Among the summer cottons were a delicious strapless outfit of tight green laced top and print skirt modeled by Mrs. Barbara Corrigan, an unusual flounced chambray brunch coat by Mrs. Marge Marshall, and a brown striped chambray with jacket by Mrs. Jan Morse.

The last section of the show was devoted to negligees and gowns and these were among the loveliest that have been seen in any of the fashion shows. Among them were: a three piece white satin pajama outfit, with red piping around the jacket and worn with red maribou mules, a simple black faille hostess robe, edged with mauve satin, a lovely long quilted satin coat lightly touched with pastel birds and flowers, and a stunning ice blue satin gown and jacket frothed with lace. Amusing was the delicious white shortie gown worn under a blue quilted robe, and very summery and delicate was the pink batiste gown and negligee with insets of lace. The show closed with an absolutely luscious chiffon and lace negligee worn over just as lush white satin.

A novelty accompaniment to the show were the little numbered cards placed at each table; the guests guessed the price of each garment modeled, added up the total, and whoever came nearest to the correct addition was the winner of a prize. Mrs. Mary deSerpa won first prize which was the choice of anything shown, Joan Gorham came in second which meant two luncheons at the Carousel, and Mrs. Kenneth Harbaugh won the third prize of nylon hose.

Visitor From South

Visiting her sister, Mrs. Paul Clark, for the last week was Miss Juliana Huldschinsky from Southern California. During her visit, Mrs. Clark entertained Mr. and Mrs. Mario Corbett and Peter Hately at dinner.

Douglas Swimming Party

The twenty-fourth annual swimming party of the Douglas school, Pebble Beach, was held this week at the Edwin Janss' pool in Los Angeles. The Janss' pool, by the way, is one of the most beautiful in the south, having been used as a background in many movies.

The party served to introduce girls who will travel to Pebble Beach for the summer at the Douglas camp, where Mrs. Grace Douglas of Los Angeles, is director. Campers and counselors from past years (and their children) were present. Among the new campers were: Dorothy Bell, Sally Ann Thompson, Santa Barbara; Barbara Bris, Constance Chamberlain, Janet Craven, Christina Crawford, Carol Eichelberger, Pat Gregson, Timmie Griffith, Susan Helgoe, Gladys Hellinger, Diane Isaacs, Gale Kenaston, Nancy Laverty, Pat Marin, Roberta Reicher, Susan Rice, Floran Tannenbaum, all of Los Angeles.

From San Francisco will come Carol Jefferson, Sarah Jane Karloff, Sammy Morse III, Jimmy McGinnis, Beth Rosener; and from Sacramento, Eugene Krat and Anne Lindsay.

The Douglas camp, under the direction of Mrs. Grace Douglas, will open on July 5.

The children will divide their time between Pebble Beach and their more rustic camp in the Carmel Valley, which has just been completed.

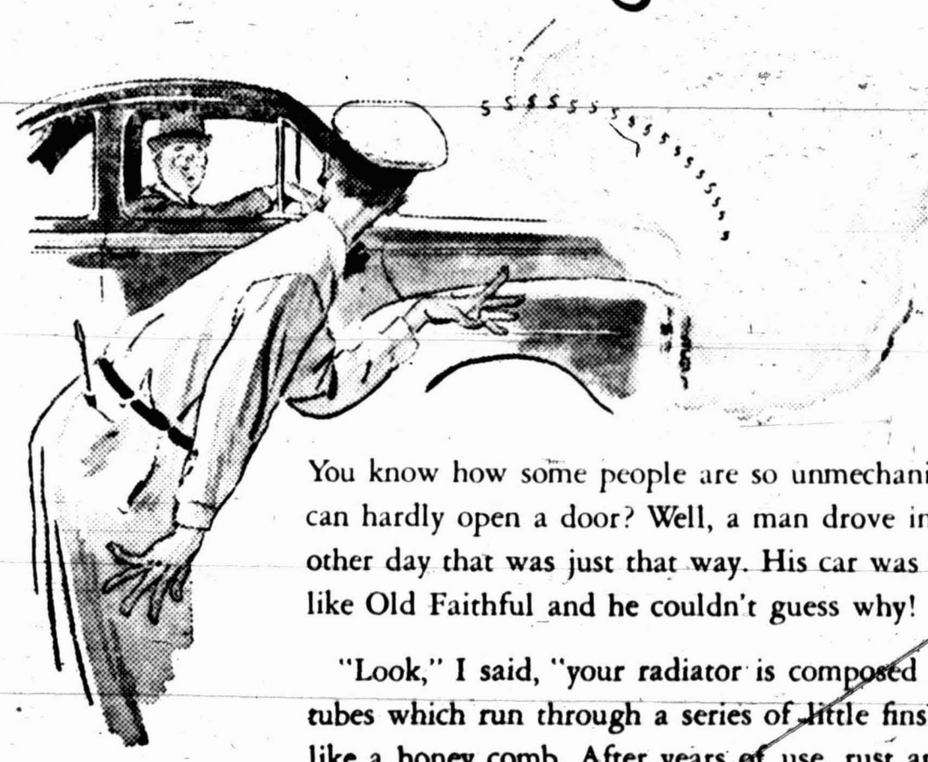
He was driving a tea kettle



You know how some people are so unmechanical they can hardly open a door? Well, a man drove in the other day that was just that way. His car was steaming like Old Faithful and he couldn't guess why!

"Look," I said, "your radiator is composed of tiny tubes which run through a series of little fins — like a honey comb. After years of use, rust and scale clog up these little tubes. The engine overheats, the water boils and you've got a tea kettle."

"Can you fix it?" he asked. "Why sure," I said. "We'll put in some radiator cleaner and you're all set." "Go ahead," he replied, "and while you're at it, I'll take one of those Shellubrication jobs I hear about." "Yes, sir," I said, "Service is my business!" Which it is!

Sam Is Back

Sam Colburn is home again. Mr. Colburn has been away about six weeks. He first made a trek to Virginia City, visiting Jean Martin and Zorie Kramer; he did some painting there, but said the whole thing blew up when it started snowing; from there he progressed to Denver City, where he stayed with an aunt and cousin, who fed him well and kept him incredibly clean, so he reports, but who couldn't keep the dullness of Denver out of his bones; so he left the great barren wastes that surround Denver and made for Santa Fe, which is almost as much a land of lotus eaters as in Carmel. He spent a few days with Myron Brinig in Taos, then delved into the easy life of Santa Fe, painting, and visiting with friends. When asked the highlight of his days in Santa Fe, Mr. Colburn replied that he caught a cold which is one of those unheard of things and would happen to an unaware tourist like himself. He finally tore himself away from New Mexico and returned to his home in Carmel.

Saturday night a barbecue was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith celebrating Mr. Colburn's return. Among those who enjoyed the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geisen, Dave Davis, Francis Johnson, Jack Beldon, and Mrs. Jean Wilkinson.

Native Daughters' Dance

On July 3, sponsored by Junipero Parlor No. 141 the Native Daughters will hold a dance in the American Legion Hall in Monterey. Hal Madrigal and his orchestra will take care of the music. Chairman of the affair will be Mrs. V. D. Hurst; advertising committee will be Mrs. Owen Byles and Mrs. V. D. Hurst; decorating committee will be Mrs. Rosemary Hartney, Mrs. Owen Byles, Mrs. A. A. Arehart, Mrs. Erma Van Pattie, Carmen Torrante, and Mrs. V. D. Hurst; checkroom committee will be Ada and Josephine Giamona.

Refreshments will be sold at the dance, and Mrs. Charles Post will call an hour of old fashioned dances. Tickets in Carmel will be at Joyce's. A great many of the gifts used for prizes will be donated by Carmel merchants.

Graham Show

Once again the Peninsula will be given an opportunity to view the paintings of Ellwood Graham when his new show opens at the Pat Wall Gallery on July 4 and goes on through July 24. Mr. Graham lives in Monterey on Huckleberry Hill with his wife, artist Barbara Stevenson and their three children, in a house he has built himself. He and his family have recently returned from a long visit in New Mexico.

Mr. Graham's work hangs in such places as the San Francisco Museum of Art, the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, the New Mexico Museum, the Santa Barbara Museum, the Marquie Gallery in New York, and is represented in the collections of Robinson Jeffers, John Steinbeck, Paulette Goddard, and Burgess Meredith.

Shattucks Hold Open House

The three Shattucks, Paul, Lucille, and Paul's bride, Virginia, entertained their friends last Saturday night in honor of Quentin Warren and Miss Eleanor Hansen, who are going east to visit their respective families. Among those who dropped in to wish the pair a pleasant journey were: Lt. and Mrs. Robert Ebersole, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephenson, Toby Street, Mrs. Lois Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lovejoy, Miss Alison McKenna, Wally Fairweather, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Flint, Miss Alice Clark, Miss Gretel Singer, Colin Alderman, Mrs. Ruth Latour, and Quentin McKenna. Virginia Shattuck is happy now that she's moved permanently to Carmel. Teaching last spring forced her to become a temporary commuter between Carmel and Fresno.

JULY CLEARANCE SALE

—MANY BARGAINS—

CLOSED MONDAY, JULY 5

S and H Green Stamps Given

Half a million dollars a day

That's what we're putting to work in new telephone facilities for the West. Where does the money come from?

1. Making the telephone system grow takes money and lots of it...we're spending an average of half a million dollars every day for new facilities in the Pacific West. Some might think all this money comes from telephone bills...or from profits. But that's not the case in this business.

2. This lady, for example, may have furnished the money for that pole above. For we must get money to grow from investors who put their savings into the business. The bills you pay go for payroll, taxes and other operating costs—and for small "wages" for the money of investors.

3. Somebody must put up a lot more money for each new telephone we add today than was necessary before the war. Costs have gone up for us as they have for you. As we put in more and more new telephones, the expensive new portion becomes a larger part of the whole system.

4. Getting telephones to people who are waiting is our big job. And we can attract new working dollars and keep up the installation pace only if we sell our services at adequate prices. These prices must cover operating costs and leave a moderate profit, too...the profit that pays our investors for the use of their savings.

Salinas Girl Weds

One of the most popular girls of Salinas, Gertrude Baguio, married Nick Imperial of Carmel in a quiet wedding ceremony in the Mission Church at 3:00 p. m., June 26. The bride was given in marriage by her father; she was in a white gabardine suit with a white headdress to match. Matron of honor was Mrs. Benny Yeban. The ceremony was attended only by relatives and close friends of the couple. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Yeban, after which a dance was given by the friends of the bridegroom to celebrate the wedding.

Barbecue Party

Pat Wall, who has been building away like fury on his land at Huckleberry Hill, and surprising all his friends by putting up a beautiful studio cottage, gave a barbecue party Tuesday evening for John Grace, John Burr, Rosalind Sharpe, Bob Hartman, Gertrude and Dan Harris, Chuck Wright, Johnny and Garnet Brennan. A large fire was built on the cleared land, and everyone sat about in blue jeans and slacks, roasting weenies, quaffing red wine, and digging into a huge pot of wonderfully seasoned beans. There was a relaxed pioneerish feeling about the barbecue which made everyone feel that the good old days of Carmel were not over yet.

Johnny and Garnet Brennan, who are building next door to Mr. Wall's property, showed everyone about their newly rising house, a modern affair, with walls that lean out, and an enormous shower room, enclosed with glass and to be filled with plants.

Engagement Announced

Miss Jeanne Staffelbach, who used to teach at Sunset School, has returned from Honolulu where she spent a year's leave of absence teaching in the islands. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Staffelbach of San Jose and was welcomed by them last Sunday with a tea at which she announced her engagement to Master Sergeant Andy C. Anderson, stationed with the Air Force at Wheeler Field on Oahu. Master Sergeant Anderson is from Louisiana, Missouri.

Wednesday evening Miss Hope Hasty and Mrs. Herbert Kohner entertained Miss Staffelbach with a shower and buffet supper party at Miss Hasty's home in Carmel. Miss Staffelbach flies back to Honolulu on July 20 and will be married soon after her return to the islands.

Today is the opening of the PICCADILLY FLOWER SHOP on Dolores street with Barbara Blake managing for Mr. Grandfield. Miss Blake takes an intense interest in flowers for their own sake and wants everyone to know that her shop will be a center of flower activity for everyone. Every order, no matter how small, will have her tasteful consideration. She will also be glad to sell you single flowers needed for hair and throat ornaments, and necessary often for painters engaged on a still life. And Miss Blake arranges flowers for parties and weddings. Wander down Dolores street to witness the opening of a new flower center, the PICCADILLY SHOP.

Fourth of July Day means a gust of patriotism, hilarity, and great informality. It's a day which swings around a picnic more than a formal dinner, and you can have the main center of your picnic put together for you in the form of box lunches at the VILLAGE CORNER. Into these paradisial affairs can go sandwiches, salads, fruit juices, hot dogs, ice cream packed in dry ice, pickles, home made cakes, cookies or pies, syrups to pour over your ice cream. With all these things go functional picnic necessities such as paper cups, napkins, and wooden forks and spoons. Have a jubilant Fourth of July with box lunches from the VILLAGE CORNER.

At the recently opened TWIGS OF CARMEL, run by attractive sisters Mary and Louise Sargeant, with plenty of visible help from Mrs. Sargeant, you will find lots of new blouses as exciting as the new decor. Some imaginative designer has made a blou-slip which means that over the one piece blouse and slip you slide an overskirt and presto you're completely dressed. Blou-slips came in three tailored styles and one sweetly peasant. Move down the racks of blouses and you find crisp striped tennis shirts, jockey blouses halfed in pink and green or yellow and blue like a Picasso head, and good all around and forever white long sleeved blouses, some in English broadcloth.

At the ECHO BOOK SHOP in the Golden Bough Court across from the Pine Inn you will find a complete line of mementos which echo Carmel on every page, paper, and canvas. Everything is arranged to remind someone far away that you are now in Carmel: water colors and small sized oils of Carmel scenes; for your library, Carmel book marks and book plates and book covers; and all kinds of paper novelties with Carmel implications. Here's a shop showing as much loyalty to its village as all of us show to the nation on the Fourth of July.

Whether it's tea that has just been served, and the bridge tables are up, or dinner is over and ditto with the tables, the plastic coated Duratone playing cards in singles or sets at the POOR SCHOLAR in Monterey will carry you through an intense card evening. The cards come in several colors of red, blue, brown, white, orange, or green, and are in smart boxes of blue or beige suede with a gold edge. Old California nostalgia is carried out on the card face which shows a picture of the Mission and the Father. The POOR SCHOLAR also carries novelty bridge scores and tallies.

With summer come the gladiolus, long stemmed and shimmering in a hundred colors, all of them to be found at the FLOR DE MONTEREY. They are shell pink, ranging to deep red, with all the shades in between of salmon, rose, fuchsia, coral, and magenta. Your July and August will be brightened with gladiolus. Perk up your hallways by placing salmon gladiolus in huge copper tubs, or arranging them in flat shallow bowls or long thin vases on table tops or mantelpieces, giving an air of summer about your house and a wonderful maze of pink. Get your summer gladiolus from the FLOR DE MONTEREY.

Come summer, everyone wants to dive into new recipes for coolness, for easiness, and a lot of people think summer is a good time to catch up on things. They have tossed out their rushed winter schedule and have a leisurely three months in which to learn new patterns, plan new meals. At the VILLAGE BOOK SHOP on Ocean Avenue, there are a number of shelves full of cook books of all kinds. Besides the standard ones, the Boston, the Settlement, the American Woman's, there are special items such as Herb Cooking, and the Standard Wine Cook Book, Barbecue and Casserole Cooking, and, oh yes, one called That Man In the Kitchen.

The HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT is constantly showing us something elegant, and they have gone overboard this time with the perfect coffee set, priced with tax, at exactly $100.00. If you match your house accessories as closely as you match your wardrobe accents, you will have an instantaneous compulsion to own the coffee set. It is sterling silver and is as gracefully composed as a fashion photograph. The lines are simple, clean, yet there are enough curves about them to give an air of delicacy to the set and save it from too modern an air of harsh sterility. We are sure of your enchantment with this sterling coffee set at the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT.

Tomorrow marks the day when the LEATHER SHOP on Alvarado street in Monterey will have its clearance sale on ladies' handbags and belts. The Shop is preening its feathers for the fall appearance of new merchandise, and you will find first class guaranteed things sliced down to price tags of near nothingness. Debonair ladies' belts will be one half price, and handbags which were extravagantly reasonable at $6.95 will be reduced to $5.50. Go early and get wonderful bargains, and help clear the shelves and the atmosphere for new fall lines.

Mildred is being extra good to you on the Fourth of July by keeping her MILDRED'S CAFE on Pearl street in Monterey open all day. She will serve breakfast, and all day long take short orders. When you order don't forget the special emphasis she makes on serving good coffee and the new line of enchiladas, chili beans, and tamales that she carries. These can be had any day of the week (except Sundays) and arrive fresh and delicious three or four times a week. So spend part of your gala Sunday at MILDRED'S CAFE in Monterey.

Everyone has been begging for blouses to be worn outside skirts. The MODE O' THE DAY shop on Alvarado in Monterey has come forth with some beauties, different colored plaid blouses with neat little peplums to be worn outside any skirt. The bodices are fitted and the sleeves are stylish leg o' mutton affairs. For $3.98 you can purchase a demure blouse of long sleeved rayon with a high neck, lace-edged, and trimmed out with black bow and black buttons. Cotton broadcloth blouses at $2.98, are cut long sleeved, and with Peter Pan collars. As you see, the MODE O' THE DAY can take care of your blouse requirements.

The GARDEN SHOP has now lined up brightly colored rakes to amuse you, shovels, hoes, in gay reds, blues, and greens and yellow. You will find smaller garden implements like trowels or shears in the same gay colors. To handle these tools are sturdy rubber or cloth gloves. Garden tools add color and life to your garden. You should go in and see the new look that garden tool took. Also, as you know, summertime is barbecue time and the GARDEN SHOP has a complete assortment of implements to assist your barbecue. Look for the green barrel on San Carlos which hangs over the GARDEN SHOP.

Exotic and unique are some of the new things which have arrived at KIP'S grocery store on Ocean Avenue. Lush mangoes from Florida, and if you've lived in Florida or the islands you'll never have forgotten the heavenly mango flavor; subtly flavored Persian melons, and an order of dinner wines in colored bottles so fashioned that when the bottle is emptied, you take a glass cutter, snip off the top, and have a perfect cocktail glass. And the bottles come in wonderful colors of cerise, silver, yellow, blue and gold. So trust KIP'S to provide you with exotic touches for your table.

These Friday nights up the Carmel Valley you will find dancing going on at the charming and picturesque Carmel Valley Inn. Give yourself the pleasure of a drive up the valley, have dinner at the Inn, or arrive at 9:00 p. m., at which time an orchestra is provided and you may float happily away until 1:00 a. m. There is something wonderful in the valley air on a summer night, and you will find it enhanced by dancing, especially when the locale is the CARMEL VALLEY INN, which seems to have captured all the valley charm within its walls.

You will find BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE on Dolores street absolutely sprouting like a garden with gay beach things! Wave Gard Caps, for instance, made of pure liquid lastex, rolled up in little squares of cellophane and tied with bright ribbons, or gay beach bags in washable fabrics, rubber, or cotton, or leather, towel-like beach robes, and great wonderful luxurious beach towels. Get yourself outfitted at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE and trundle colorfully beach-wards, all ready for a delicious sun bath and a play in the sand dunes.

Paging the Carmel Valley for all kinds of delicious things carried at the CARMEL DRIVE IN PRODUCE MARKET, owned and managed by Tony Kastros, on the corner of Eighth and Dolores streets. From this fruitful valley come fresh strawberries. In the way of vegetables you will find squash, artichokes, peas and many other varieties. If you want fresh fruit and vegetables from a fresh and sunny store with the added patriotic touch of having a great many things come from the Carmel Valley, do your shopping at the CARMEL DRIVE IN PRODUCE MARKET.

It's a pleasure to buy good meat from a pleasant smiling butcher and this is what always happens when you go shopping at the CARMEL DRIVE IN MEAT DEPARTMENT. Mr. Turney owns and manages his department and though it is certainly ringing a familiar cliche, it is no less than true true to say he always serves you with a smile. Do your holiday shopping and get your general meat supplies from the CARMEL DRIVE IN MEAT DEPARTMENT.

In the spirit of Fourth of July, Americana, patriotism, are the wash stands shown by Mrs. Clara- but at the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP. There is a New England decorated wash stand with place for basin and pitcher, a stand in cherry and one with a bow front. These stands are charming placed in hallways, or bedrooms, and filled with green plants. Also at the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP are interesting coffee tables, one in pine with a drawer, and gracious for Sunday night supper before the fire, a more formal table in walnut with drop leaves, a square sturdy pine table with drawers and fascinating pine topped table with a stone base set with eagles.

The CARMEL ART SHOP features Sonja Belin textiles with a choice of fifty colors; samples of the skirt and dress materials are shown at the Seven Arts Gallery show of textiles and photography. Miss Belin says that anyone may design her own color combination and Miss Belin will custom weave the material in exclusive yardage. A chart is kept for this purpose at the CARMEL ART SHOP and you may mark on it the colors you wish in your skirt, how wide a band of what color, and then have it all woven to your especial desire. Orders are taken at the CARMEL ART SHOP upstairs in the Seven Arts Court.

It's now well into summer and you can't be blamed if you do nothing but lie in your patio, read a book or sun bathe. It's too warm and too wonderful. But, in the meantime, you may be developing all kinds of things you don't know about in the way of bulges, bumps, and a slowed down circulation resulting in a trance-like lethargy. Why not go over to the STAUFFER SYSTEM and let them pep you up with a fine over-all treatment, or go to work in a specialized way on some of those unnoticed bumps. The STAUFFER SYSTEM will whip your circulation into shape and slim you down for light summer clothes.

Fascinating to look and walk upon are the braided and Early Californian hand loomed rugs now being shown at the VILLAGE LAMPLIGHTERS. The braided rugs come in assorted colors, are oval or round, are reversible, and braided with wool yarn. The hand loomed rugs can be loomed up to 15 feet wide, and come in a large range of colors. You might wish to choose an exciting combination like chartreuse and turquoise, or you might prefer a more traditional solid color. But by all means step into the VILLAGE LAMPLIGHTERS and see for yourself the lovely colors and beautiful workmanship of these rugs.

It's high time we gave a thought to the fact that Carmel should not only be known as a summer resort but a winter spot also. Leader in this field of thought is the HIGHLANDS INN, which, just to show its good faith in the matter, is staying open all the year round. Think that over, and realize you can always count on the HIGHLANDS INN as a place to go, any time, any season. Just drive up the beautiful newly oiled road, have a superb dinner, and have a superb view, lazily gazing out over the magnificent Pacific. And if you've never done it, wander up there for breakfast some time, and have the same breathtaking scenery with your ham and eggs.

Patriotic blue and white and red can be colors on your dress, colors on a flag, and colors on cakes and goodies made up for you at the CARMEL BAKERY for Fourth of July time. If you order ahead, you can have all kinds of designs in holiday colors topping your desserts. The CARMEL BAKERY specializes in French pastry and Danish pastry, all wonderful things to offer your guests, and of course, has all kinds of choice assortments in the way of pies and cakes and cookies. Please your children, your guests, and yourselves, with something especially delicious for the Fourth of July from the CARMEL BAKERY.

A Continental touch is accenting meals at the CASA MUNRAS where every night in the Patio Room there is a wonderful smorgasbord table to entice you before you begin your regular dinner. These Swedish hors d'oeuvre are authentic and delicious, and you will carry heaping platefuls to your table. Also, every night but Monday, and starting at 9:00, there is the music of Danny Danziger to dance to in the Merienda Room. It looks as though the CASA MUNRAS is the place to dine and dance on the great gala night of the Fourth of July.

Everything sounds good at MAC'S POULTRY SHOP where a long list of clean fresh poultry is shelved to please you, entice you, and provide you with holiday fare. There are specialties like Cornish game fryers, fryer turkeys, and rabbits, and, of course, the regular delicious fryers, broilers, and roasters. Any of these would be fun to cook up for a picnic, or to save for a formal evening dinner. When planning your rounds about town, be sure to check down MAC'S POULTRY SHOP for a stop-in while you select a fine young rabbit or chicken.

The VILLAGE JEWELERS have something special to offer you at their shop on Dolores street: one of the first imports since the war from England, Dunhill lighters made in London, of gold, or silver, or rhodium plated, coming in just-right sizes for men or women. They are very chic to whip out of a handbag, and very nice to have handy right on time when your lady wants her cigarette lit. Just a holiday suggestion, they can be used to tip off the Fourth of July beach barbecue fire.

For your Fourth of July pleasure the PINE DEW SUKIYAKI restaurant in Monterey is increasing its American menu so that you can have an almost endless list of American and Japanese dishes to choose from for your gala dinner. The menu will be almost doubled, and they will serve special chicken dinners, wonderful prime ribs of beef, and all kinds of things that they have not offered to you before. A great many of these will be kept as a regular thing on the menu, so that even though you're not particularly in the mood for Sukiyaki or some other Oriental fare, you can still enjoy the charm of this Japanese restaurant while you dine on less spectacular food.

The Thor Automagic Washer up at WALDO HICKS' plumbing shop on Junipero is probably named that because with its three distinct personalities, it inevitably has a great deal of magic in it. This fabulous piece of machinery can be used as a clothes washer and one and a half minutes later can be washing the dishes, or it can be used as a wonderful automagic combination. It can wash clothes one day a week and be kept washing dishes seven days a week. It looks as if you wanted something to do away with all home drudgery, there would be nothing like having an Automagic Washer in your home.

The giant glass from GUMP'S for thirsty zombie drinkers can be seen in the window at Whitney's, beautiful and waiting, a great big glass for a great big drink. Of hand blown glass, swirled with ruby or pale blue or clear crystal, there are giant zombie or mint julep glasses, giant old fashioneds, and giant beer mugs. The glass, for sheer material and size, is beautiful to behold, and adds sparkle and chic to anything it associates with, the glass topped table it rests on, the patio bar it lives in, and the person who finally holds it.

Out of the mysterious crucibles of his pans and ovens, the chef at Sade's always brings forth the most superb roast beef it is possible to prepare. Done to its proper unequivocal pitch, seasoned to perfection, the beef beguiles the tourist-in-taste, and the gourmet alike. The beef is always from Kansas City so the chef has the finest possible to start with, then in his own subtle way he cooks, bastes, seasons; that's his share. Yours is to choose a table at SADE'S, order roast prime ribs au jus, and take your time about enjoying the most luxurious roast beef you've ever had.

Recreation Program Activities

By GEORGE MOSOLF

Ages for puppet show participants have been raised to include the 11 and 12 year olds. So many youngsters in this age group have asked to be let in on the fun that the doors have been opened to them. A change has also been made in the swimming schedule so that grades from 2 to 12 are allowed to attend the afternoon swim sessions on both Monday and Thursday. This will give the kids a chance to see the popular puppets and still not miss a chance to swim.

FREE TENNIS LESSONS TUESDAY-THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Boys' and girls' tennis classes are held each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 1 to 3 p. m., at the high school courts. Dick Hawk is on hand to give individual attention to those desiring to improve their strokes. At the conclusion of the lessons, matches are arranged so everyone can find suitable competition for a few sets.

FRIDAY NIGHT BADMINTON AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

Badminton has become so popular with Carmel racquet enthusiasts that an additional night of the bird and bat sport has been added to the weekly schedule. Heretofore Tuesday and Thursday nights have been the only nights for badminton, but for the rest of the summer Friday night from 7:30 to 10 o'clock will be set aside for badminton. John Westover is in charge of the badminton classes which welcome high school, college, and adult players.

SOFTBALL COMPETITION FOR KIDS

Every afternoon from 1 to 4 boys from ages 8 to 14 gather at Sunset Field to engage in softball workouts conducted by Chuck Moller. Two teams are being organized so that all the boys will have a chance to tackle some outside competition. The larger boys are placed on the Carmel Juniors who participate in the Carmel Junior League, while the smaller sprouts will take on similar teams from Pacific Grove, Monterey, and Seaside. All a boy has to do to try out for one of these teams is report to Sunset Field any afternoon. Informal games are organized so all kids get a chance to play.

TEEN AGE DANCES TO BE HELD AT LEGION HALL

Site of Wednesday night's teen age dances has been changed from the Sunset Library to the American Legion Hall. Through the generous co-operation of the Legion, the facilities have been opened for the youngsters on Wednesday night. The Legion Hall is more suitable for dancing, and, with the game room and coke bar, everyone can find enjoyment at these Wednesday night sessions. Mrs. Dorothy Skelley is in charge of the dances and she welcomes early arrivals who want to brush up on the latest dance steps.

Oakland Journalist Dies On Honeymoon

Robert E. McIver, 50, East Bay newspaperman, died of a heart attack early Tuesday morning at a Carmel hotel. Dr. J. B. McCarthy and the Carmel Red Cross ambulance, equipped with a pulmotor, were called shortly after 2:00 a. m. by Cridner Robinson, desk clerk, after Mrs. McIver had called for assistance, but McIver had succumbed before their arrival. The couple was married Monday at the Church of the Wayfarer.

A native of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, McIver leaves a brother, Charles McIver of Los Angeles, and his mother, Mrs. Frances Coffeen of Beverly Hills. Services and burial were in Oakland, with local arrangements by the T. A. Dorney Funeral Home.

Belin, Macchiarini, George Exhibit At Seven Arts Gallery

On exhibit now at the Seven Arts Gallery, under the sponsorship of the Carmel Art shop is the work of three prominent artists: Sonja Belin, showing handwoven textiles, Peter Macchiarini, displaying jewelry, and Neal George, photographs. The show is very modern, very beautifully hung, and very interesting from a technical as well as an artistic viewpoint. The wonderfully woven textiles are shown in ties, bags, some woven with metallic thread, skirts, curtains, and beautiful pieces of material. The photographs are sharp, dramatic, are studies of pottery, looms, a ballerina-skirted girl, and intense close-ups of hands at work. Also modern and exciting is the silver jewelry, made into fantastic yet simple designs; some of the pieces are fashioned of copper set with turquoise and have a primitive hammered look about them.

If you are at all interested in modern art work, you will by all means want to have an interview with these stunning modern objects.—Z. K.

FINED TEN DOLLARS

Willie C. Stevenson of Watsonville was fined $10 by Judge Ross of the Carmel police court Monday, following his arrest on charges of peddling without a license Saturday. Operating a truck on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh, Stevenson was distributing bread from a Santa Cruz bakery. He bought a license this week.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Pampered Farmers

If the folks in our town were less tolerant, they'd be really burned up over that nationally circulated article on "pampered farmers," describing them as living off the fat of the land.

From where I sit the farmer is anything but "pampered." If he's better off today than twenty years ago it's because he's worked hard to improve the quality and quantity of his production.

Take Bert Childers, for example. Bert is up at four in the morning, to get the milking finished—and ploughing or harvesting, depending on the season, until sundown. In the evening he finally relaxes with the missus over a moderate glass of beer.

And the farmer today's not only temperate in his habits, like Bert's evening glass of beer . . . but tolerant in his opinions. So he'll probably say of that article, "somebody got the facts wrong," and just let it go at that.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, July 4. The Golden Text is taken from Exodus: "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me" (20:2, 3).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

John: "Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (8:31, 32).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is tributary to God, Spirit, and to nothing else. God's being is infinity, freedom, harmony, and boundless bliss. . . . Like the archpriests of yore, man is free 'to enter into the holiest,' —the realm of God" (p. 481).

Colonel's Daughter Weds

In the beautiful chapel of St. John's at Del Monte, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 26, Kathryn Isabel Bixby, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. L. H. Bixby of Carmel, was married to James Boyd Likowski, son of Mrs. H. B. John of Long Beach, and the late James B. Likowski. The double ring service was read by the Reverend Theodore Bell. The bride, given away by her father, Colonel Bixby, was attended by Marjorie Anne Riley of Dunsmuir. Best man was J. Macauley Ropp of Laguna Beach.

After the wedding a reception was held at the Carmel home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds will make their home in Berkeley.

Carmel Girl Weds

Graduate of Carmel schools and of San Jose State, Miss Emma Ann Wishart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Wishart of Carmel, became the bride of Vaughn Clark Hill of San Francisco on June 26 at St. John's Chapel, in Del Monte. Miss Wishart was gowned in white satin with a long train and finger tip veil, and carried gardenias and bouvardia to carry out the all-white appearance. Bridesmaids Mrs. George W. Wishart and Miss Audrey Carmody were gowned in chartreuse faille with matching mitts and carrying yellow begonias. Sister of the bride, Margaret Mary Wishart, was maid of honor. A reception at La Ribera followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will make their home in San Francisco where Mr. Hill is a chemical engineer with the Standard Oil Company.

Bird Calling Society

We have been hearing about the new organization known as the Bird Calling and Bell Ringing Society and some of the meetings which they have had at the Carousel in the Carmel Valley. Now we hear rumors of them again, this time attending a barbecue at Lookout Farm. Those who joined and were apparently technical experts in bird calling, were: Beth Ingels, Mrs. Roberta Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Corrigan, Lt. and Mrs. James Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Lovejoy, Mrs. Alice Ricketts, Ed Fralick, William Henry, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kenney.

Yosemite Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nash and daughter, Sherry, returned from a week in Yosemite. Neither of them had seen the Park before, and had a great time hiking about, looking at the waterfalls, and taking lots of photographs. They took the Oak Flat Road back, and report it as being very scenically exciting at this season of the year.

Leaving Newport

Motoring out from Newport early in July to take up residence in their newly purchased home at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, will be Admiral and Mrs. Raymond A. Spruance. Admiral Spruance is retiring as president of the Naval War College at Newport.

La Playa Guest

Signing in at the register of the La Playa Hotel, the delightful Mrs. Charles Laughton, Elsa Lancaster, spent several days on the Peninsula. Mrs. Laughton's latest role, at least that we've seen, was as the deliciously hectic artist in the Big Clock.

Mr. Montague Recovered

All will be delighted to learn that John Montague, who has been ill in a San Francisco hospital for some months with an almost complete loss of eyesight, is now fully recovered, is home in Carmel, and able to enjoy the summer thoroughly.

'TEEN AGERS DANCE

Mrs. Dorothy R. Skelley, in charge of the 'teen agers dance program, announces that the Wednesday dances will be held in the American Legion Hall instead of the library at the school. The dances are for all 'teen agers who live in or are visiting Carmel. The PTA has planned to have a host and hostess at each dance. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sowell were the first couple to act in this respect, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett were host and hostess for the second Wednesday dance.

Scientific Consultation

Dr. D. T. MacDougal of the Carmel Highlands was in consultation recently on scientific problems with Professor H. S. Reed of the University of California, in the division of plant nutrition, and Charles Babcock, research student, who were staying at Peter Pan Lodge. Professor Reed is an uncle and good friend of Republican candidate Thomas E. Dewey.

Peninsula Personalities

Glenn Clairmonte was interviewed last Thursday on Mrs. Nelly Montague's radio program, known as Art In Living on the Monterey Peninsula. The program was called Peninsula Personalities, and Mrs. Clairmonte told of the famous people who have spoken to her adult education classes.
